From Father Walter's desk...
"The World as Church!"

So often we are invited by the Church to get involved helping others. And once the invite is thrown out, it gets either discussed or ignored. It's the discussions that are interesting for me! Often enough, people interpret the invite to mean helping ones' immediate family. Then, for those minds that are more expansive, the focus moves to ones' parish church. Seeing anyone whose minds are more expansive than this is rarer yet. But it does happen.

One more interesting interpretation of the invite of the Church is to regard any one charitable action on one's part as somehow making the world a better place. The analogy of a small rock thrown into a pond creating ripples that move continually outward comes to mind here. So, if I even have a good thought, somehow that creates a sort of ripple that nourishes the world mind, so to speak. And the more I do, the better for the world. And so this interpretation goes.

Now, I will admit that although this is a sort of New Age interpretation, there are some traces of it that can be discovered in the literature of world spirituality, including Roman Catholicism. It certainly is mentally stimulating to ponder it!

However, if such a thought IS true, then would the opposite be true as well? If any one good action I do, as simple as a good thought, can positively affect the world, than how about our more negative actions. I mean, wouldn't the angry and even hateful thoughts that go through our minds adversely affect the world as well?

Allowing for even the possibility of this to be true, how can we deal with it? Well, guilt tripping ourselves would be the most inappropriate response in my opinion. Far better that that would be a simple acceptance of it, and of ourselves, which if truly accepted ought to lead toward a better (deeper even) awareness of our connection to the world. Such acceptance might make us more aware of our thoughts and actions. We might ask ourselves how we might even change ourselves. If I am not willing to literally go throughout the whole world preaching the Good News of Jesus Christ, I might at the least be willing to insure that my mind stays pure, and my thoughts remain noble and loving.

It is an interesting challenge. If I regard it as incredibly difficult to preach the Gospel everywhere, try the difficult challenge of watching ones' own mind. Oh, well, it is Good News indeed to remember that we do not save ourselves, but that with Jesus, all things are possible - even the creation of a loving mind.

Blessings, Fr. Walter

Remembering Jesus' Message of Divine Mercy...

Jesus speaks to a sinful soul: “ Do not be afraid of your Savior, O sinful soul. I make the first move to come to you, for I know that by yourself you are unable to lift yourself to me...be willing to talk openly with your God of mercy who wants to speak words of pardon and lavish graces on you...” (Diary, 1485)

From the Catechism of the Catholic Church ...

“ When God reveals Himself and calls him, man cannot fully respond to the divine love by his own power. He must hope that God will give Him the capacity to love Him in return and to act in conformity with the commandments of charity.” (CCC #1826)

The Bible Timeline: The Story of Salvation History

Come and join this exciting, enriching Bible study program by Jeff Cavins, and leave knowing who God is, who you are and your place in Salvation history.

This program fills in all the gaps of Old Testament catechesis you may have experienced in your life and ends with an emphasis on the Gospel of Luke and the Book of Acts.

The stories and characters will really come alive over the course of 23 weekly sessions. Only 15 minutes a day of scripture reading! It is a DVD-based instructional program with assigned reading and penetrating study guide questions. Small groups discuss the assigned homework and provide keen insights and fellowship. If you miss a week, simply make use of the digital-video access that comes with the online registration. Pope Emeritus Benedict said, "You need to know what you believe. Yes, you need to be more deeply rooted in the faith than the generation of your parents so that you can engage the challenges and temptations of this time with strength and determination."

Is the Holy Spirit calling you?

The study will meet in the OLP School Library
every Thursday from 7-9pm

September 28, 2017-April 19, 2018

Please bring your study guide, Catholic Bible and Catechism of the Catholic Church.

Visit ascensionpress.com to review the program and to register. The cost of the program is $34.95, but you can't put a price on eternal Salvation!
