TWENTY-EIGHTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Go, sell what you have,
and give to the poor
and you will have treasure in heaven;

then come, follow me.

The Marian Fathers of the Immaculate Conception

From Father Walter's Desk... "Dealing with the real world"

I never tire of saying that humility does not mean humiliation, although sometimes it can look that way. Well, even if it does look that way, isn't it true that appearance can be deceiving? Let's see. Look at the following descriptions of religious acts that for many people are examples of humility. What do you feel when you read them?

My Father's Mother came from Poland. From time to time, she would go to her Polish Catholic Church, a Church with about forty stone steps leading to the front door, and crawl up the steps on her knees, praying at each step until she reached the doors. Then she would get up and enter the Church for a deep experience of prayer. She would accomplish such a feat even in her seventies.

At another time I was in Poland myself, visiting the Sacred Shrine of Our Lady of Czestochowa. At the site of the actual, famous painting of Our Lady, traditionally painted by Saint Luke, I witnessed an elderly woman crawling around the chapel on her own knees where the picture hangs, crying and praying as she went.

On yet another occasion, I was in Fatima, Portugal. While there I witnessed again a young mother, with her two children holding both of her hands, one on each side, and crawl on her knees around the entire area which contains the main Fatima Basilica and the site of the first apparition of Our Lady to three children. It was here that Mary would talk to the children about the need of praying for other people, and how much Her Son was offended by the self-centeredness of the world. This area is roughly the size of our Church property combined with the adjoining area of where McDonalds is located.

At another time in Fatima, I witnessed once more a man lying prone on the ground, pulling himself by his fingers around the same chapel of the first apparition of Our Lady. The building structure alone is about the size of the McDonalds nearby to our Church. He was not pushing with his feet to help him to crawl better. He simply grabbed the ground in front of him and pulled.

Obviously, the readers of this letter will experience a range of feelings when reading these accounts, some positive and some negative. Some readers might be reminded of times past. I know that I do. In my own youth prior to Vatican II, the concept of looking for "feel good" experiences was not even considered. Suffering was a part of the Real World and one was invited, challenged actually, to grasp the reality of what suffering meant, and maybe of what life meant, much like the man dragging himself around a chapel by grasping the ground in front of him. The Church never said that a person had to perform such an action, grabbing the ground and pull oneself forward like that. But people were expected to grab the Real World, with its sufferings and joys combined, and pull oneself forward with God's Grace to the next experience that life will present, whatever they may be.

For me the deepest spirituality, traditionally speaking, takes birth from learning to live with equanimity in both joyful and trying experiences. I learn to take the good as well as the bad in imitation of Christ, whose own life demonstrated such a balance. Going through tough times is painful, no doubt. But when such experiences are completed, and if one depended on God throughout, one feels cleansed, an experience that just cannot be described adequately.

I experienced something similar when I underwent a thirty-day Ignatian retreat in preparation to profess perpetual vows. I was only permitted to talk thirty minutes a day to my spiritual director, who guided me through the retreat. I had to be quiet for the rest of the time. I had to further meditate according to this method for five hours a day. It was painful in the beginning of this retreat. About half way through I felt somewhat better. When I left the retreat after the thirty days I never felt better in my life. In accepting this new and initially painful reality, obviously different from my normal life, depending on God in prayer to show me His Will, I learned something of this balance. Afterward, I felt a much stronger connection to the spirituality of my grandmother. I understood why she did what she did. The "old" ways teach us still. No illusions here; just simple reality.

Blessings, Fr. Walter

"The Family and friends of Deacon Frank Bina wish to thank the parishioners of Our Lady of Peace for attending his recent wake and funeral service. One of Deacon Bina's great joys was serving Our Lay of Peace as a parishioner for over five decades and as a Deacon of the Joliet Diocese for 37 years. Your compassion and kind words were a great source of comfort and were truly appreciated. We know that Deacon Bina's prayer for you would be to continue to show this type of love and service to each other as you continue to build this wonderful faith community he so dearly loved."

Plastic Bag Recycling Program – COMPLETED

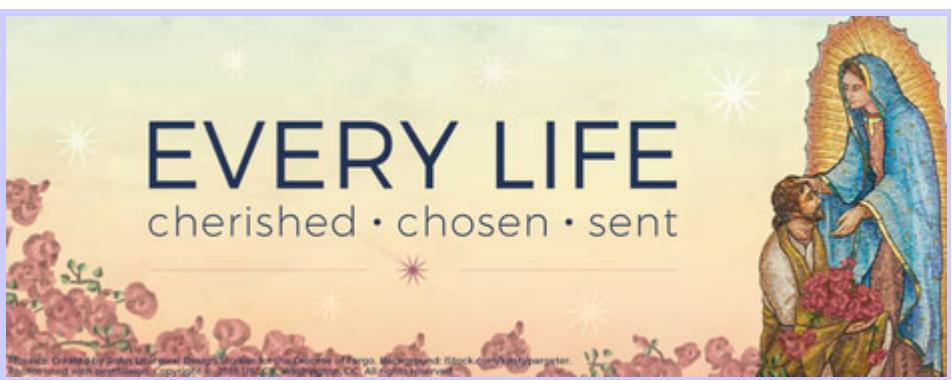

We are happy to report, that in less than one month, over 500 pounds of plastic bags have been collected in honor of Joey Ventimiglia! This is yet another testament to the hearts Joey has impacted. Effective today, we will no longer be collecting plastic bags.

We hope that going forward you will continue to recycle bags and think of Joey when doing so. All of the plastic bag items (bags, bubble wrap, ziplock bags, stretchwrap, etc.) can be recycled at most local grocery stores.

From the bottom of everyone's heart, we thank you for your support and effort with this collection. Once the bench is made and is in its new home on the grounds of Our Lady of Peace School, we will post a picture for all to see the end result.

“By embracing the mission entrusted to him, St. Juan Diego helped bring Christ’s transforming love to cultures gripped by oppression and death. . . . Like St. Juan Diego, let us embrace our daily mission to help others encounter God’s transforming, life-giving love.”

After many years of being prevented by her father from entering religious life, Catherine entered the Daughters of Charity in 1830.

While in the convent, the Virgin Mary appeared to Catherine, revealing many prophecies concerning France. Mary also charged Catherine to have the "Miraculous Medal" made, emphasizing Mary's Immaculate Conception and mediation. This medal became one of the most powerful sacramentals in the Church.

Baptisms are celebrated on the second and on the fourth Sunday of each month immediately following the 12 Noon Mass.

We ask that the parents be registered members of the parish. First time parents must attend one hour (plus) of Pre-Baptismal instruction held on 2nd or 3rd Tuesdays of February, April, June, August, October and December at 7p.m. in the School Library. The Pre-Baptismal class may be taken before the birth of the child.
