GOD DOES NOT GIVE UP

Our readings today point to God's deep commitment to human relationships. Our passage from Genesis begins with the declaration that God created human persons to be social beings, who can only thrive when they live in deep connection with each other and with God. The author of Hebrews teaches that the coming of Jesus as one of us shows God's radical commitment to human life. Jesus' teaching about divorce, described in today's Gospel, shows God's deep investment in marriage and, implicitly, all human relationships. When our personal relationships with others are distant or broken, God seeks to heal them. When social structures serve to maintain oppression, or to keep groups in ongoing conflict, God is working to overthrow them. Even when we give up on each other, God does not give up. God will work ceaselessly, in us and through us, within all the pain and joy of the human situation.

LIKE A CHILD

Today's passage from Mark's Gospel is in the context of Jesus' teaching about the kingdom, or reign, of God. A common understanding was that entering the kingdom was based on family origin, or achievement, or status in the community. Jesus pushes back on this, and presents a child as a model of receptivity and openness.

This is not to suggest that adults must somehow reject the wisdom gained through adult experience and return to childhood. Adult maturity also includes the difficult journey, usually later in life, of letting go of illusions that we have built up about our own virtue, skills, and autonomy. Jesus' teaching pushes back against our culture, which honors energy and vigor, expertise and achievement. These valuable gifts can fail us if we cannot accept our dependence on God who provides and cultivates these gifts. We can accept God's graciousness in our life when we open our hearts as a child does.

PROUD TO BE HUMAN

This is the first of seven consecutive Sundays that we will share passages from the Letter to the Hebrews. The letter is an extended sermon by an unknown author directed to a Christian community where likely many were converts from Judaism. The author attempts to link Jesus to the story of the people of Israel, building toward an image of Christ as God's perfect high priest. Christ the High Priest is described as the central link between humanity and God.

When we reflect upon the life and death of Jesus, we can more deeply accept that through Jesus, God knows what we humans experience. Jesus the High Priest embraces his humanity. In today's passage, the author claims that Jesus is proud to be human, proud to be our brother in the family of God. The letter to the Hebrews is not only a celebration of Christ, it is an affirmation of the dignity of our own human life.

THE BARRIERS THAT SEPARATE US

We live in a society that has many technological avenues for stimulation and entertainment, one in which the urban population exceeds the non-urban. It is curious that loneliness is a prevalent malady. It is easy to reach out and touch someone, we are told. But—in truth—it is not all that easy, and statistics from the mental health field will reinforce that opinion. Today's readings are about the ways in which we can authentically reach out: God touches Adam to create a mate and end his solitude; God-in-Jesus takes on human flesh and death in order that we might come to glory; Jesus reaches out to the children whom the disciples had tried to keep away, showing us the manner in which we must approach the loving embrace that awaits us in heaven. Until that day, however, we must remember that ours is a sacramental church, a church of signs of the love of God. And so we are called to reach out continually to ease the loneliness and the barriers that separate us from one another and, therefore, from the love of Christ.

FEAST OF FAITH

The Sign of Peace

"Greet one another with a holy kiss," wrote Saint Paul to the Corinthians (1 Corinthians 16:20), and he said the same thing to other communities as well. The holy kiss, the sign of peace, has been a hallmark of Christians from the very beginning. In giving and receiving the sign of peace, we are not giving something of our own, but something that Christ has given to us. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give to you," Jesus told his disciples (John 14:27). Jesus comes to us when we gather together in community. We celebrate the Eucharist not just to receive spiritual nourishment to help us on our solitary way to salvation, but to be transformed into one body, the Body of Christ in the world. As we receive the Eucharist, we are not only united to Christ; we are united to each other. It is never easy to live in community, and we hurt each other on the way. So we need to turn to each other in a sign of reconciliation and forgiveness, to look into each other's eyes, and give and receive the peace that is not ours, but Christ's.

You're The Blessing We'll Never Know

By the Souls of the Little Ones

Penned by Tom Stalmach

Now we lay you down to sleep.
We pray the Lord your soul to keep.
Though you're gone before your time,
We offer you this lullaby.

We long to see your blessings,
And the gifts we'll never know.
Like barefoot laughter in the rain,
Or angels made in snow.

Like pictures of a home with love,
On refrigerator doors,
Or a tiny voice sayin'
"Who could ask for more,"
Just your tiny voice sayin'
"Who could ask for more."

I'd like to hug and kiss your cheek,
And hold you in my arms.
To dream of all that you could be,
And keep you from all harm.

But as it is we'll never feel,
the touch of tiny hands.

To change our hearts,
And heal our wounded land, wo, oh, oh.
To change our hearts,
And heal our wounded land.

We miss your hugs we'll never feel,
Their medicine will never heal.
Your feet will never grace our sod,
Or lead us down the path to God.

But from your home in heaven,
Please pray for us below.
Cause you're in our hearts,
And we'll never let you go, oh, oh.
You're in our hearts,
And we'll never let you go.

We ask of your forgiveness,
For the ones who did not know,
What they did,
Or they'd never let you go, oh, oh.
You're the Blessing,
That we'll never get to know.

Inspiration for the Song

In September of 2013 I went to "A Day of Remembrance" a day where people gathered at gravesites across our nation where aborted children were buried to remember and honor those souls. The gathering was at Queen of Heaven Cemetery in Hillside, IL where over 2000 aborted children that were found in a dumpster behind a medical pathology lab in Northbrook, IL were buried in two adult sized caskets. I went home after the gathering, but I could not shake the impact of the experience.

I decided to write a song to honor those children. I knew that it needed to be a lullaby, a lullaby for those who never heard a lullaby sung to them in this life. I prayed to the souls and asked them "what do you want me to say about you?". The reply to the prayer was immediate and plentiful and I learned a lot. The message that came back is that they are OK. There is no anger towards parents, doctors, or those who make our laws. What I felt come back to me was an excitement. They just wanted to share with me all those things that kids down here love to do, but they never got a chance to.

The visuals in this song came from them. I put pen to paper, but I truly believe they wrote the song for me which I entitled "You're the Blessing We'll Never Know".
