TWENTY-SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Behold,
the wages
you withheld from the workers
who harvested
your fields
are crying aloud;
and the cries of
the harvesters have reached the ears
of the Lord of hosts.

THE FREEDOM OF GOD

Today's readings remind us that God is free: God acts as God wills regardless of what human beings might expect. In the reading from Numbers, God's spirit enters two men, Eldad and Medad, even though they had not been with the others who had received the spirit of God. And in Mark's Gospel, Jesus endorses an unknown exorcist, who did God's work in the name of Jesus but was not officially sanctioned by the disciples. That God's spirit is shared widely does not threaten Moses or Jesus. They celebrate the notion that God's spirit blows where it wills. Moses was shaping the people of Israel, and Jesus similarly was shaping the community of disciples, to encounter a radically free God who doesn't fit their preconceptions. This encounter, when received with humility, widens their vision and deepens their faith. God continues to shape the Church similarly today, to open us up to God's freedom.

LOOK WITHIN

A wrestling match of sorts takes place in this section of Mark's Gospel. Jesus tries mightily to describe what it will mean to be his followers, and the disciples try mightily to avoid the subject. They point to an outsider, and the dangers he poses. Jesus turns the tables and asks his disciples to look within themselves: how are they a danger to Jesus and his work? Jesus uses graphic language, invoking self-amputation, to underscore his point.

Sometimes our most difficult obstacles lie deep within. Like our hands and feet, some attitudes and habits are deeply a part of us, and their removal would be traumatic for us. Yet we know that some beliefs (such as idolatries based on race, wealth, or gender) or behaviors (such as addictions) seriously harm ourselves and many others. We need a prayerful, non-neurotic watchfulness about our inner life. When necessary, we need a fierce resistance to anything that places us or others in danger.

UNITY IN CHRIST

Jesus, in today's Gospel from Mark, says "whoever is not against us is for us." Mark was speaking to his own Christian community. From its beginnings, there were tensions in the Church about who speaks for Jesus. Jesus himself always called for unity of heart and a diversity of expression as a sign of the truth of the Gospel. It is no secret that in Christian history and continuing today, divisions have seriously damaged the message and cause of Christ.

In our own time and place, cultural and political divisions have reduced our ability to solve problems and to live together in a just and peaceful society. Perhaps this is a time for Christians to step up, to remember that our unity in Christ is far deeper than the differences that we perceive. We are called to reach out and listen to each other, to honor each other as members of the Body of Christ. Christians can lead the way, and show everyone watching how it's done.

PROCLAIM THE WONDER OF GOD

The gift of the Spirit is given freely, not according to human expectations, but according to the generosity of God. Joshua wants Moses to stop Eldad and Medad from prophesying in the camp, when they were not with the others as the spirit was bestowed on them. Moses, so close to God's mind in the matter, wishes everyone could possess the spirit of God and proclaim it to the nations.

Psalm 19 celebrates the perfection of God's law, and how it brings joy and delight. It is better than the finest gold or the sweetest honey. Moreover, God gives the wisdom of the prophets to everyone, especially the simple and lowly ones, even to children. It is the "little ones" who proclaim the wonder of God to all.

FEAST OF FAITH

The Lord's Prayer

The Eucharistic Prayer ends with the great "Amen," the acclamation of assent by the assembly. Then the Communion rite begins with the Lord's Prayer. We pray this prayer in many contexts, both inside and outside the Church's liturgy. Here, in the context of the Mass, the Lord's Prayer is profoundly eucharistic. When we ask for our "daily bread," we are asking for the gift of the Eucharist. When we ask God to forgive us as we forgive others, we are seeking forgiveness and purity of heart before we approach the altar to receive the sacrament of the Lord's Body and Blood—"so that what is holy may, in fact, be given to those who are holy" (General Instruction of the Roman Missal, 81).

At Mass, a prayer for peace is inserted between the prayer and the doxology. In this prayer, called the embolism, the Church asks God for freedom—freedom from sin and all anxiety and distress. We are living in an in-between time; even as we rejoice in Christ's presence, we await his coming in joyful hope.

THE PRESENCE OF GOD

In all our thoughts and actions we ought to remember the presence of God, and account all lost in which we think not of God.

You're The Blessing We'll Never Know

By the Souls of the Little Ones

Penned by Tom Stalmach

Now we lay you down to sleep.
We pray the Lord your soul to keep.
Though you're gone before your time,
We offer you this lullaby.

We long to see your blessings,
And the gifts we'll never know.
Like barefoot laughter in the rain,
Or angels made in snow.

Like pictures of a home with love,
On refrigerator doors,
Or a tiny voice sayin'
"Who could ask for more,"
Just your tiny voice sayin'
"Who could ask for more."

I'd like to hug and kiss your cheek,
And hold you in my arms.
To dream of all that you could be,
And keep you from all harm.

But as it is we'll never feel,
the touch of tiny hands.

To change our hearts,
And heal our wounded land, wo, oh, oh.
To change our hearts,
And heal our wounded land.

We miss your hugs we'll never feel,
Their medicine will never heal.
Your feet will never grace our sod,
Or lead us down the path to God.

But from your home in heaven,
Please pray for us below.
Cause you're in our hearts,
And we'll never let you go, oh, oh.
You're in our hearts,
And we'll never let you go.

We ask of your forgiveness,
For the ones who did not know,
What they did,
Or they'd never let you go, oh, oh.
You're the Blessing,
That we'll never get to know.

Inspiration for the Song

In September of 2013 I went to "A Day of Remembrance" a day where people gathered at gravesites across our nation where aborted children were buried to remember and honor those souls. The gathering was at Queen of Heaven Cemetery in Hillside, IL where over 2000 aborted children that were found in a dumpster behind a medical pathology lab in Northbrook, IL were buried in two adult sized caskets. I went home after the gathering, but I could not shake the impact of the experience.

I decided to write a song to honor those children. I knew that it needed to be a lullaby, a lullaby for those who never heard a lullaby sung to them in this life. I prayed to the souls and asked them "what do you want me to say about you?". The reply to the prayer was immediate and plentiful and I learned a lot. The message that came back is that they are OK. There is no anger towards parents, doctors, or those who make our laws. What I felt come back to me was an excitement. They just wanted to share with me all those things that kids down here love to do, but they never got a chance to.

The visuals in this song came from them. I put pen to paper, but I truly believe they wrote the song for me which I entitled "You're the Blessing We'll Never Know".

Stop The Most Extreme Abortion Bill Ever NOW

Email Congress through this link:

votervoice.net/usccb/campaigns/88288/respond

Congress is about to vote on the most radical abortion bill of all time.

The ongoing push to force taxpayer-funded abortion in the budget process is terrible. The so-called “Women’s Health Protection Act” is much worse.

In addition to forcing taxpayer dollars to fund abortion, this bill would mean...

- Abortion on demand at any stage of pregnancy would be imposed nationwide, even in states that don’t want it.
- Pro-life laws would be on the chopping block at every level of government (federal, state, and local). This includes laws on parental notification for minor girls, informed consent, and health or safety protections for abortion facilities.
- Health care professionals like doctors and nurses would likely be forced to perform, assist in, and/or refer for abortion against their deeply-held beliefs.
- Employers and insurers would be forced to cover or pay for abortion.

We need to tell the House of Representatives that this horrible bill must never be enacted.

Please - can you spare just a moment to email Congress now?

Statement of Archbishop Salvatore J. Cordileone in Opposition to Women’s Health Protection Act of 2021

HR 3755, the misnamed “Women’s Health Protection Act of 2021,” shows to what radical extremes the supposedly “Pro-Choice” advocates in our country will go to protect what they hold most sacred: the right to kill innocent human beings in the womb. I support Archbishop Joseph Naumann in his demand to lawmakers to reject this “deceptively-named, extreme bill [that] would impose abortion on demand nationwide at any stage of pregnancy [and] ... eliminate modest and widely supported pro-life laws at every level of government,” and, instead, that they “put the energy and resources of our federal government behind policies that recognize and support both mothers and their children.” Any reasonable person with a basic sense of morality and inkling of decency cannot but shudder in horror at such a heinous evil being codified in law.

It is especially shameful that any self-professed Catholic would be implicated in such an evil, let alone advocate for it. To Catholic politicians in particular, I implore you to listen to the words of Pope Francis who just last weekend, during his flight back to Rome from Slovakia, said: “Abortion is more than a problem. Abortion is homicide.... It is a human life, period. And this human life must be respected. This principle is so clear, and to those who cannot understand, I would ask two questions: is it right to kill a human life to solve a problem? Scientifically, it is a human life. The second question: is it right to hire a hitman to solve a problem?”

This proposed legislation is nothing short of child sacrifice, and clearly in reaction, among other things, to the recently passed Texas Heartbeat bill. It should come as no surprise, then, that that bill is being challenged by none other than The Satanic Temple and precisely on the grounds of religious freedom. Indeed, HR 3755 is surely the type of legislation one would expect from a devout Satanist, not a devout Catholic.

I therefore ask all Catholics in our country immediately to pray and fast for members of Congress to do the right thing and keep this atrocity from being enacted in the law. A child is not an object to be thrown away, and neither is a mother’s heart. I’ve said it before and I’ll say it again: the answer to a woman in a crisis pregnancy is not violence but love. This is America. We can do better.
